

Monash University response to questions from The Australian:

Monash University is aware of the Thousand Talents Plan which provides funding for individual researchers.

Monash requires all staff to disclose all funding, or external employment/activity/research.

There are also strict guidelines around protection of Intellectual Property at Monash.

Monash is unable to discuss any individual circumstances.